Black Salt

Promotes blood circulation, cures dandruff, and aids
weight loss.

Black salt is high in antioxidants and it has a surprisingly low sodium content. It also includes basic minerals such as iron, calcium, and magnesium, which are necessary for good health. Black salt aids in the relief of heartburn and bloating. It lowers acid levels and removes reflux.

Himalayan Smoke Salt

Smoked Salt Fine is an aromatic edible salt product that has a unique smoke flavour. This salt is popularly used to enhance the barbecue flavour in different dishes, but it is not limited to barbecued dishes only. Its production is all natural and no chemicals, artificial flavours or colours are used.

The smoke flavour is added into the salt by putting the salt over burning wood for around 48 ~ 120 hours. Smoked Salt Fine by Patel & Sons is used by high-end celebrity chefs around the world, with a handful of manufacturers globally; this product adds distinction to our product range of edible salts

B.B.Q & Cooking Tiles

- . These salt blocks are heat resistant and can hold temperature for a long time which makes them really useful. These are good for both high and low temperature and can be used for cooking and chilling the food.
- . Cooking on a salt block means you are adding flavor along with 84 minerals of Himalayan salt to your food.
- . Salt blocks have moisture retention and low absorbency properties which make them anti-bacterial. Because of this, these blocks are an amazing choice for serving and presenting food.

Rock Salt Lamps

Health Benefits Of Rock Salt Lamps

The popular pink salt isn't just for sprinkling over dinner or a soothing bath anymore. Himalayan salt lamps have made their way from specialty apothecaries into decor magazines. The lamps are made from solid himalayan salt from Pakistan. They are lit from the inside with a bulb, and the combination gives off a relatively dim, amber light.

The appeal isn't just visual. Many believe that salt lamps have health benefits from curing asthma to detoxing a room. Manufacturers of the lamps claim they release helpful negative ions into the room and clean. But do they really work?

Air Ionization:

The benefits of negative air ionization were discovered by accident in a 1998 study on seasonal affective disorder (SAD). The study showed that high - intensity negative ion treatments can reduce chronic depression and SAD. Other studies from trusted sources have shown similar results.

Air Purification:

Indoor air pollution is one of the top environmental health risks, according to the EPA. Poor indoor air quality can lead to health problems Trusted source, especially for children. Between rising awareness of volatile organic compounds in our homes and particulate in the air, it's no surprise that people want to improve their indoor air quality.

Improve Skin Condition:

There is evidence that salt (though not necessarily salt lamps) can be beneficial for helping manage the symptoms of certain skin conditions. One 2005 study found that bathing in a salt solution was effective for reducing dry skin and inflammation. Anecdotally, some people who suffer from eczema and psoriasis have also found salty ocean water helpful for calming flare-ups.

Salt Candles Holders

Himalayan salt candles holders are a wonderful way to derive all the good things that are associated with this most beautiful crystal.

When gentle heat applied to Himalayan salt, it will emit negative ions into the atmosphere. These are odourless, tasteless molecules that we find in abundance in natural environment, such as the mountain and beaches, which are said to be greatly beneficial to health.

Like the Himalayan lamps, the Himalayan salt candle holder has the ability to purify indoor air, reduce allergies and improve your overall health. Salt is naturally hygroscopic, which means that it attracts water to its surface. The light from Himalayan salt surrounding your candle causes the water absorbed by it to evaporate quickly and this is how it purifies the air around you.

Animal Licking Salt

Cattle only require approximately 10kg a year of salt in their diets. As the minerals comes in the form of a rock all that is required is to let your cattle lick the rock a few times. It can also be bought, quite conveniently, in the shape of a salt-soaked silage pit cover. This means farmers can have better control of rations. Increased daily weight gains, milk yeilds and better overall health of stock is only a good thing farmers. Dairy farmers have begun to use it to great effect, now it's over to the beef industry!

Foot Detox For Skin Detoxification

You may detoxify your feet with Himalayan salt bulk by bathing them in warm water soaked with the mineral. Natural salt called Himalayan salt is extracted from the Pakistani Himalayan Mountains. It contains 84 minerals and trace elements that are good for human health, making it one of the purest salts in the world.

Circulation can be improved by soaking your feet in warm water with pink Himalayan salt. The warm water dilates your feet's blood vessels, improving blood flow. Additionally boosting circulation, the minerals in the salt aid in the relaxation of the muscles in your foot

Inhaler & Neti Pots

Use of salt caves and rooms is a natural process. People sit in salt rooms that are built with salt bricks or tiles, and the chamber is also filled with minute salt flakes. The mouth, skin, and nasal cavity are the routes by which the minute crystals of Himalayan salt enter the lungs. By doing so, the impurities are flushed out and the nasal passage and respiratory passage are cleaned.

As an alternative to the salt room, this therapy can also be carried out utilizing a Himalayan salt inhaler, which is more practical and straightforward.

A drug-free, antibacterial, and antimicrobial medication that purifies the respiratory system is a salt inhaler. It eliminates all of the foreign substances that are breathed into the respiratory system. When you use a salt inhaler, the moisture in the air you breathe in gathers up tiny salt crystals and transports them to the lungs through the respiratory tube. An inexpensive and practical approach to get the rewards of salt therapy at home is using a salt inhaler.

Himalayan Bath Salt

Salt baths and salt soaks have long been championed for their therapeutic and healing qualities. Bath salts have been used for many years to prevent infection, reduce pain and swelling. There is no wonder there is a surge in demand for Himalayan bath salts as they not only have physical benefits, but mental health benefits as well! With life beginning in the womb, immersing our bodies in warm water is one of the most natural ways to seek comfort and calm.

One of the most well-known benefits of a Himalayan salt bath is its ability to provide a relaxing and calming experience. Adding these to your bath not only simulates the calming effect of lying on a warm saltwater beach but it is also said to ease pain, melt away stress, reduce fatigue and improve emotional health.

Himalayan Body Scrub

The ionic composition of Himalayan salt helps remove toxins and dead skin cells from your skin. It is replete with 84 natural-occurring minerals that penetrate your skin, providing it nourishment. It is known to help reduce excess oils from the skin, leaving it with a refreshing and clean surface.

Our skin sheds hundreds of dead skin cells every day. The outer most layer of our skin is mainly made up of dead skin cells. The dead skin cells make your skin dry, and it subsequently looks worn out. Exfoliation helps in getting rid of dead skin cells from your skin and restoring its natural radiance. It's scrub is made of pure ingredients that improve the skin's health. It helps cleanse pores, promotes skin brightening, and fades the appearance of acne scars. Furthermore, this gentle exfoliator helps in removing excess oils and dirt from your skin and offers a rejuvenated and smoother surface to your skin. It is a recipe for revitalizing the youthful complexion you always wanted.
